

WEBROY

INTERNATIONAL QUALITY FLAG FLYING HIGH

Webroy recently became the first company
In South Africa to upgrade to the 2002 international SABS quality standard.

In line with Webroy's ongoing commitment to the automotive market, we became the first company in Natal to achieve ISO/TS 16949 in 2001 through SABS.

This year Webroy was again the first to achieve the new upgraded ISO/TS 16949:

2002.

In order to cater for our non-automotive customers we also achieved ISO 9001:2000;
another milestone on the road
of continuous improvement.

NEW QUALITY MANAGER

Peter Venter joined Webroy earlier this year as Quality manager, bringing a wealth of experience and knowledge with regards to environmental and safety concerns, also with a strong training background. A valuable addition to the team!

Marketing Director Buzz Kopp (left) and CEO Rob Royston (Right) hoist their newly acquired ISO Ts6949 flag for the 2002 upgrade, to accompany the ISO9001 and SA flags.

These standards place Webroy in a good position to continue our long standing supply agreements with local markets as well as being able to participate in the huge growth in export markets.
